SCHOONER IS SEIZED BY CUSTOMS AS ARMS RUNNER

H. W. Talbot Taken As Sequel To Big Seizure

NO ARRESTS YET

Seized Munitions Are Worth More Than Tls. 37,000

Acting on official instructions, local Customs officers yesterday seized the four-masted schooner W. H. Talbot, aboard which arms and ammunition valued at in excess of Hk. Tls. 37,000 had been confiscated on July 3, shortly after the vessel entered port here.

The seizure of the Talbot by the Customs is in accordance with regulations which provide for confiscation of vessels which bring in contraband in violation of the law. No criminal charges have as yet been preferred in connection with the attempt to smuggle the arms into China.

The Talbot, with Captain Borreson as master, arrived in Shanghai in June from America via Honolulu, presumably with a cargo of timber. Search by Customs officers, however, revealed the contraband arms stowed beneath the poop deck. Packed in boxes and barrels were several thousand rifles and revolvers, about 100,000 rounds of ammunition, and eight machine guns. The crew claimed that they knew nothing of the arms aboard, all having been taken on before the crew were engaged.

The Talbot is a wooden schooner and flew the American flag. It is said to be worth approximately $15,000 gold.

Dr. P. H. Dorsett And Son Arrive Aboard Steamer President Wilson

Dr. P. H. Dorsett, agricultural explorer for the United States Department of Agriculture, and his son, Mr. J. H. Dorsett, arrived in Shanghai yesterday aboard the Pacific Mail liner President Wilson, en route to North China where they expect to spend two or three years in making an intensive survey of agricultural conditions for the United States Department of Agriculture.

The purpose of their studies is to obtain an accurate knowledge of agricultural conditions and the principal crops with a view to ascertaining in what way an exchange of seeds and plants can be brought about between China and the United States. The territory to be covered by Dr. Dorsett and his son includes the provinces of Chihli and Shensi and section of Manchuria.

Other passengers for Shanghai on the President Wilson, which docked at the China Merchants Central Wharf at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, were:

Powers Of Soviet Here Subject To Restrictions

Conflict as to the present powers of Mr. J. R. Elleder, Soviet representative in Shanghai, in matters affecting Russians here and the local Bureau for Foreign Affairs is indicated in an article appearing in the Chinese press which carries copies of instructions sent from Peking to the Bureau for Foreign Affairs anent the matter.

In taking charge of the former Czarist consulate on Whangpoo Road, Mr. Elleder is said to have informed Mr. S. K. Chen, chief secretary to Commissioner Hsu Yuan of the Bureau for Foreign Affairs, that all matters affecting Russians residing in Shanghai must be referred to him.

This, however, differed from instructions previously sent by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs at Peking, and Mr. Chen pointed out that only certain matters were as yet under Mr. Elleder's jurisdiction. The stand taken by Peking was that until a Soviet Consul-General for Shanghai was appointed, Mr. Elleder's authority extended only to the protection and registration of Russians here and the granting of amnesty to Whites and repatriating them.

The Ministry for Foreign Affairs was again communicated with, with the result that the previous instructions were confirmed. The local commissioner for foreign affairs, however, was instructed to consult the Soviet representative before taking any steps in any matters involving Russian interests.

Mr. Chen and Mr. Tser Ting, Russian interpreter for the Bureau for Foreign Affairs, are still at work in the former Czarist consulate checking over the records, and it is indicated, that it may be some time before this check is completed.

With regard to the recent request made by General Ho Feng-lin, defense commissioner for Shanghai and Sungkiang, for $100,000 for the purpose of repatriating the 600 Russians still aboard the Volunteer vessels here, the Waichiaopu has telegraphed that it considers that the expense of repatriation should be borne by the Soviet, and it is now negotiating with the Soviet authorities in Peking. An answer is expected in three days.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Aug. 12.—The official report issued on August 8 that M. Karakhan and Marshal Chang Tsi-lin had reached an agreement which accorded with the Sino-Russian Agreement was based on information which the Waichiaopu received from M. Karakhan who had been conducting independent negotiations with Marshal Chang Tso-lin.

M. Karakhan now admits that an impasse has been reached through Marshal Chang Tso-lin's attitude vis-a-vis the White Russian question and the Soviet Ambassador desires to begin formal Sino-Russian negotiations without further parleys with Mukden. After a delay of some days apparently due to the Mukden impasse M. Karakhan will meet Dr. Wellington Koo tomorrow when it is expected that the date of the Sino-Russian Conference will be finally fixed.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 12.—The question of handing over the Russian Legation appears to be going on smoothly. It is reported that all the legations except the Italian Legation have received instructions from their governments to comply with the request to hand over the premises to M. Karakhan. It is not anticipated that the Italian Government will offer objection and there seems to be a chance of the matter being settled before the departure of Dr. Schurman, the American Minister, tomorrow.

Chinese Gets Three Years For Part In Highway Robbery

A young Chinese who was arrested on Broadway last Friday night for highway robbery was sentenced in the Mixed Court yesterday by Mr. Bucknell, American Assessor, and Magistrate Li. The complainant was returning from Ewo Jetty, going along Broadway, when several men held him up. Two men, he said, pointed pistols at his head, another—the accused—held his hands, and others went through his pockets and stole his pocketbook, two checks, and $100 in notes. The accused man had taken nothing from him. When the Chinese constable came up, the other men ran off, but the complainant held on to the defendant, and the latter was arrested by the constable.

The Court sentenced the accused man to three years' imprisonment.

DAVIS FLAYS REPUBLICANS IN ACCEPTING NOMINATION

Democratic Candidate Is Notified Of Selection

URGES TAX CUTS

America Will Still Favor League, He Says

(BY UNITED PRESS)

Clarksburg, W. Va., Aug. 11.—Speaking at the ceremonies attendant upon his acceptance for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency, John W. Davis, former United States ambassador to Great Britain, today pledged full cooperation in any serious movement aiming at the promotion of world peace.

Mr. Davis endorsed the World Court of the League of Nations flatly, leaving it to a referendum to decide the limitations of American participation.

He attacked the foreign policies of the Harding and Coolidge administrations and declared that America now fears to speak her mind beyond the three-mile limit.

"If this condition continues," Mr. Davis said, "America's foreign affairs must be left in private hands."

The Democratic candidate insisted that America's present policy of unofficial observation in Europe is merely a poor pretense. He favored any disarmament conference sufficiently broad to insure its effectiveness.

(Reuter's American Service)

Clarksburg, W. Va., August 11.—Former Ambassador John W. Davis today formally accepted the Democratic Presidential nomination in the course of a speech in which he gave a bitter review of the four-year record of the Government party, without sparing reference to the association of some of its members with the unsavory oil scandal.

Mr. Davis declared that there was no evidence that the Republicans could frame and carry out any definite, consistent foreign policy. "With the reconstruction of Europe weighing heavily on the world, with American economic life dwarfed and stunted by the interruption of world commerce, with the agricultural regions in the west sinking into bankruptcy owing to the loss of foreign markets, we have stood by, powerless spectators, offering the world nothing but private charity and individual advice."

The Presidential nominee promised a reduction in taxes and tariffs. He said that the Democrats sincerely favored the world Court and expressed the opinion that the day was coming when the voice of American public sentiment would be heard in favor of membership of the League of Nations.

Adventure In High Finance Lands Zau Loong In Jail

Covetousness over-reacheth itself, is the moral apparently to be drawn from the adventure in high finance of Zau Loong, as the gentleman has learned to his sorrow. Zau was arraigned in the Mixed Court yesterday charged with uttering spurious coins. He had called at an exchange shop Monday and offered seven 20-cent pieces in exchange for a "big" dollar. He got his dollar and left. The master of the shop returned shortly afterward, gave the 20-cent pieces a careful once-over, and groaned—all bad, all the kind which even an illiterate ricsha-man rejects with a scornful "No wantchee."

The boss was beginning to express in forcible terms and vigorous physical movements his opinion of the mentality of his young assistant when Zau turned up at the counter again. This time the ambitious financier wanted to turn the big dollar back into small money. The exchange man took the dollar Zau offered, bounced it on the counter, ascertained the silver content to be something less than zero, reached over and grabbed his client by the neck, and whooped for the police.

Zau was yesterday sentenced to three months' imprisonment by the Mixed Court.

Peking Drafts Plan For Mixed Court Rendition

According to Peking dispatches appearing in the Chinese press the Waichiaopu has drafted proposals for the rendition of the Mixed Court at Shanghai, these proposals now being under consideration by the Diplomatic Corps.

The provisions which the Waichiaopu asks in effecting the rendition of the Mixed Court are given as follows:

1. That the Mixed Court be changed into a special tribunal presided over by a judge and a number of magistrates. The status of this tribunal is to be similar to that of the Shanghai District Court.

2. Criminal and civil cases involving Chinese only shall be heard by the magistrate alone. If foreigners or the Shanghai Municipal Police are interested in a case, an assessor shall cooperate with the magistrate. Foreign residents who do not have the privilege of extraterritoriality shall be tried by the magistrate alone. If any sentence to be handed down by the court shall exceed ten years imprisonment, the sanction of the Ministry of Justice shall first be obtained.

3. Warrants and summons for the court are to be executed by the Shanghai Municipal Police, but the magistrate has the right to inquire into these matters. In all cases to come before the court the police must bring the accused before the court within twenty-four hours after his arrest. Otherwise the accused shall be released.

4. In cases involving foreign interests, the commissioner for foreign affairs at Shanghai shall act as judge of the appeals court. In cases where Chinese interests alone are involved, application for rehearing must be made to the Superior Tribunal.

5. The chief clerk of the court and other clerks shall be named by the court. Foreign clerks are to be recommended by the consular body but must meet with the approval of the court.

According to the dispatches, these proposals were considered by the Diplomatic Corps at a meeting held Monday. No decision was reached, however, and the matter is to be taken up again.

Parents Charged With Luring Away Married Daughter

A family case in which the parents of a young woman are charged in Court for causing their daughter to leave her husband's house came up in the Mixed Court yesterday before Mr. Jacobs, American Assessor, and Magistrate Loh. The three accused, the parents and their daughter, who is charged with misconduct, were arrested on a warrant issued by the Wusih authorities.

The young woman in the case, Yau Sau-mau, 23 years of age, was betrothed to a certain Koo Kyungming of Wusih. She went to his home to live, and was, he claims, his lawful wife, but she left him last year and went to her parents. Since then, it is alleged, she has behaved in an unseemly and unvirtuous manner with various persons.

The parents stated in Court yesterday that the girl was only betrothed to the man. The family had no money now, however, and they did not want their daughter to be betrothed to Koo any longer. The daughter herself, on the stand, stated that the complainant's father, to whom her own father had also referred in giving evidence, had sold his concubine like a piece of merchandise, and she did not want to go to his house again for fear they might sell her in the same way.

The Court gave all three defendants three days to return to Wusih for trial.

Indian Ordered To Pay $300 Debt In British Court Here

That friendship and indebtedness do not mix was the moral apparently shown in the case of Hazara Singh versus Gaya Singh in the British Court yesterday morning before Mr. G. W. King, sitting as Registrar. The plaintiff lent the defendant $300 last November, to be paid back in four months, on the latter's personal note. No interest was charged, the transaction being a purely friendly one. The defendant, however, was unable to pay at the time promised, having had some business reverses, including a lost court case which had set him back more than $400, and Hazara Singh finally brought the matter into court to demand the payment of his money.

Registrar King, noting the present unfortunate condition of the defendant, and his apparent willingness to pay the money in such instalments as were possible, refused to make an order for payment of a definite amount monthly as called for by the plaintiff, and handed down a simple order for payment of the money borrowed, with costs.

GERMANS AGREE TO TAKE LEGISLATIVE MEASURES TO ENFORCE DAWES PLAN

Text Of Agreement Signed Between Reparations Commission And Berlin Delegates Is Published At London; Stresemann Confers With Premier Herriot On Ruhr Evacuation

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, August 11.—The text has been published of the preliminary agreement between the Reparations Commission and Germany, signed on August 9.

The agreement binds Germany to take the necessary legislative measures to enforce the Dawes plan, while the Reparations Commission undertakes to take measures to the same end, including facilitating the issue of a loan.

Both parties agree to make any additional arrangements on which the London Conference may decide and undertake to refer disputes regarding the interpretation of agreements to arbitration in accordance with methods to be fixed by the London Conference.

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 11.—Herr Stresemann today conferred with M. Herriot on the subject of the military evacuation of the Ruhr.

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 11.—The understanding that France is prepared to withdraw her troops from the Ruhr a year after the execution of the Dawes plan has made an excellent impression in Conference circles. It is believed that Germany will not raise difficulties with regard to accepting the French conditions for evacuation, which will probably embrace the conclusion of a commercial agreement between France and Germany.

Mr. MacDonald has agreed to M. Herriot's proposal to have, prior to the conclusion of the Conference, an exchange of views with the German delegates on the question of German disarmament in order to facilitate the undelayed resumption of the operation of the Inter-Allied Commission of Military Control.

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 11.—On the London foreign exchange market today dollars and francs further appreciated on favourable developments of the London Conference. The closing rates were:—Sterling on New York 4.55-5/8 and French francs 80.35.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Aug. 11.—The conference continued its labours on Saturday in regard to the question of the economic evacuation of the Ruhr. The adhesion of Germany to the application of the Dawes plan is nearly complete. The only matter that now remains in suspense is that of deliveries in kind and transfers. In political circles it is considered that the chances of the successful termination of the conference have greatly increased.

Chancellor Marx has signed the protocol of the Commission of Reparations, which was transmitted to Mr. MacDonald. M. Barthou, the President of the Reparations Commission, has returned to Paris.

DIPLOMATS ARE SAID TO FAVOR FLOOD SURTAX

Proposal Of Peking Is Given Recommendation, Report

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 12.—The Diplomatic Corps yesterday, considered the Chinese Government's request to approve the proposed Customs surtax for flood relief. It is believed that they resolved to recommend approval of the plan to their governments.

The Chinese Government propose that the surtax should be enforced for a period of from six to twelve months which will probably mean a year before it is lifted. The revenue from the tax for 12 months will approximate $8,000,000. Expenditure will be under Chinese and foreign supervision and a certain percentage will possibly be allocated to repair the dykes and for other flood prevention works. As on previous occasions it is expected that reasonable notice will be given exempting from the surtax goods on the water when the measure is finally passed. As the relief measures require early large expenditure, it is proposed to raise a loan on the security of the surtax. In this connection it is stated that the Chinese banks, which have plenty of money available, offer very favorable terms.

MOVEMENT FOR MUSEUM GIVEN AID OF PEKING

Tsao Kun Encourages Scheme For Prounding New Institution

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 9.—Mr. Cheng Keh, Minister of the Interior, recently sent a memorial to the President pointing out that Dr. Wellington Koo and other enthusiasts had started a movement for the establishment of a "Chung Hua Museum". Mr. Cheng requested the President to issue a mandate sanctioning the scheme and giving encouragement to this laudable enterprise. The President accordingly issued a mandate, which is gazetted today, instructing Mr. Cheng Keh to inform Dr. Koo and the other gentlemen concerned in the movement that the plan met with the hearty approval of the President.

The establishment of the museum would be an important factor in the life of the people from the historical point of view. It would have considerable educational effect, and it would tend to improve the national spirit. Finally the President trusted that the scheme, which appeared to thoroughly efficient, would require extension as time went on and that provision for such extension would be made.

Foreign Laundry Company Winds Up Affairs Here

The Shanghai Sanitary Laundry Company, a foreign firm established for the purpose of founding a modern steam laundry in Shanghai and now in voluntary liquidation, held its final meeting to wind up its business yesterday afternoon at the offices of Messrs. J. P. Bisset and Co., 12 The Bund. Mr. A. E. Stewart, as liquidator, was in the chair, and there was a quorum of shareholders present to approve the final details ending the company.

The return of ordinary share capital to shareholders was at the rate of Shanghai Tls.2.65 per share of Tls. 10 par value. Twelve shareholders, holding 190 shares, have failed to apply for the warrants in their favor enabling them to obtain payment of return of capital, and the unclaimed amount of capital, Tls. 507.50, has been paid into the companies liquidation account.

A letter was read to the meeting yesterday from Mr. R.F. Le Mesurier, Official Receiver, acknowledging receipt of the account of the winding up of the Company and enclosing receipt for Tls.520.09 paid into the companies liquidation account. The account of liquidation was also read by the Chairman, Mr. Stewart, and in conclusion he moved a resolution, being seconded by Mr. G. M. W. Hummel, that the account submitted, showing the manner in which the winding up had been conducted and the property of the Company disposed of, be received and adopted, and that the books and accounts of the Company be retained by Messrs. J. P. Bisset and Co., the late secretaries and general managers of the Company, they undertaking to destroy same upon dissolution of the Company, excepting only the register of shareholders, which is to be retained until the 12 shareholders who have not yet claimed warrants for return of capital have received such return.

This resolution was carried, and the meeting adjourned.

'Decoy Women' For Rum-Running Boats

(Reuter's American Service)

Vancouver, July 14.—The use of "decoy" women is an innovation among rum runners in Puget Sound and British Columbia waters.

Recently a large yacht came into English Bay, near here. It was observed that women were seated in luxurious wicker chairs on deck. The vessel dropped anchor, the awning canvas was run back on a roller and the women disappeared. Only the pilot house was visible. Liquor then was loaded on the yacht and, as it cleared, the canvas, wicker chairs and women reappeared.

Later, according to fishermen at Everett, Wash., the ship tried to land liquor there. But a suspicious craft appeared and a quick getaway was decided on. The vessel speeded toward Vancouver. In the excitement one of the women on deck fell overboard. Fishermen rescued her and found she was a dummy.

Alleged Garage Larceny Case In Mixed Court Here

The case was brought up in the Mixed Court again yesterday in which Mr. G. R. Groves; owner or part owner of the Fly Wheel Motor Car Co., 886 North Shanse Road, is complainant against two assistants charged with larceny. Over Tls. 1,100 worth of automobile fittings are alleged to have been stolen from the garage, it being necessary to take it away by truck. The property was discovered by a foreign constable in a vacant house.

The case is complicated by the fact that the first accused, Kuang Ming, states that he purchased the property for $1,000 from a man named Liu, for whom a warrant was issued, and that one of the men charged claims to have an interest in the company, a document indicating this having been produced in the Mixed Court yesterday by counsel for the defense, who cross-examined the plaintiff at length in an endeavor to show that the case could not be brought as a criminal action but only as a civil case. Counsel yesterday asked for the release of the second defendant and the withdrawal of the charge against him, but this was refused.

The case was adjourned for a further hearing.

EXCHANGE SHOP KEEPER HELD UP; $140 IS STOLEN

Unarmed Men Make Off With Cash Early In Morning

Five men, all unarmed, made off with $140 in currency and 4,000 coppers in a holdup perpetrated early yesterday on Dixwell Road near the East Yuhang Road bridge, according to a report filed with the police.

The victim was Loh Ming-hau, keeper of an exchange stall at Hongkew Market. Loh was en route in a ricsha from his home at 12 Harbin Road to his exchange stall at 6 o'clock in the morning when the five hold-up men stopped the ricsha and seized a bag in which the exchange-shop keeper was carrying $60 in big money, $80 in small money and the 4,000 coppers. The holdup men were apparently unarmed and no alarm was raised by Loh or the ricsha coolie as they made good their escape.

British Police Court Fines Two

In the British Police Court here yesterday morning, before Mr. G. W. King, Magistrate, two British subjects appeared charged with failure to pay dog tax and take out dog licenses covering their canine pets.

Mr. B. P. Lilcaco's case was first up. His plea that, on returning to Shanghai, he found his dog almost blind found little favor with the Court. Magistrate King recognising no dog tax reduction for blindness. The defendant was fined $3 and ordered to take out a license.

Mrs. H. Brown, defendant on the same charge, said she did not know her license had expired. She had been served with a summons on Saturday, and as soon as possible on Monday—had taken out a license. She was also fined $3.

Peking Is Chosen As Another Scene For Film Thriller

Miss Betty Brownell, who is in the Orient as the personal representative of Ruth Roland, the film star heroine of a thousand and one perils in thrilling serial movies, will leave Shanghai for Peking on Sunday. Miss Brownell, who has become very popular during her short stay here, is proceeding to Peking on cabled instructions from Miss Roland to look over "locations" there, as Miss Roland is desirous of adding Peking to her proposed new picture which will have a chapter in most of the important cities in the Orient.

Miss Brownell stated yesterday that she has found a suitable story for another new picture which Miss Roland will take while she is here, probably. It is a hair-raising mystery story, dealing with China and the Far East, and written by an English author. Negotiations are now in progress for the moving picture rights to the book. Miss Brownell was enthusiastic about the plot which she read at one sitting, so engrossing was the movement of the story, and believes that Miss Roland will have in this tale a more fitting vehicle for her talents than anything she has yet essayed.

"Small money" is still going down in value, and a new high-water mark has been reached in the amount of small change obtainable for a "big" dollar. As to coppers, two of these coins are now almost exactly equal to one cent big money, with nearly 200 for a big dollar. It is possible to get 29 coppers for a 20-cent silver piece. In relation to the big dollar, the value of coppers has fallen recently, while with relation to small silver—particularly the 10-cent pieces—it has risen in the last couple of months.

Gallopers Turn Tables On Visiting Keio Nine In 1-0 Shut-Out Game

Manager Herby Gallop's gang of ball tossers turned the tables on the Keio nine which is now visiting the city, for yesterday after going five innings without a hit Captain Jerry Thatch came to bat and smashed out a long two-bagger into the left crowd. This hit would have ordinarily been good for three bases or maybe a homer, but according to the ground rules for this series the diminutive skipper got but two. However, that was enough for he was pushed down to third base when Kingman was robbed of a hit a second later. With one out, Bristow flied high and far to Hamasaki in right field which gave Thatch time to reach home on the throw in.

This run of Thatch's was the only score of the game for Hudford Taylor who hurled a wonderful game had the best support shown by the local team in years for not one Galloper made an error and there certainly were stellar plays in almost every inning played. The Keio boys hit in the second frame when Nimura banged one out to right field where Wiley was parking and although he could not catch the fly he banked himself up in front of the oncoming ball and stopped a probable two bagger, for if the bingle had ever got into the Japanese crowd around the outfield the Keio hitter would have had a double.

NO SCORES HERE

Taylor then admitted the hitter to second base when he pitched wild to the plate, but since there were already two outs he fanned the following batter and finished that stanza. However, the visitors returned to bat in the next inning and nicked him for another bingle, for the first man up to bat singled to center field. Kirihara, that rare shortstop, followed with a crash to Thatch at short but Jerry tossed the runner from first out and left matters in the same way they were previously, Kirihara on first then stole second base as swift as lightning but after Taylor whiffed the following batter, Hamasaki, flew out to "Buck" Taylor in left field and matters were ended for a while.

The sixth inning was the dangerous one for the Gallopers for after two down the little Hamasaki who is the star hurler for the Keio boys and who played right field yesterday, whammed out a double in Wiley's territory in right field. Taylor then took himself out of the hole, for Hashimoto hit right into his hands and the opposing batter was easily cut off at the initial bag.

After scoring in their share of the sixth frame the Gallopers returned to bat in the seventh stanza and led off with "Buck" Taylor who singled to right field but was forced out at second base when Starke hit to that region, however the local center fielder was safe at first. In the same manner as Taylor, Starke was forced out at second base when Al Taylor hit to the second sacker. With Taylor on first Jack Smith got a nice two-base crash to right field which nearly scored the Shanghai pitcher from first base. Hamasaki who plays in right field relayed Smith's clout to the first baseman who, in turn, made a perfect throw to the plate and cut Taylor of just in time or the score would have been a trifle better for the Gallopers.

Taylor then went in the box and in spite of his shaky condition after his sprint around the diamond which had winded him badly, held the Nipponese stars for the final two innings to no hits. Only three batters faced him in each of the last two frames. The last man up to bat in the ninth stanza looked dangerous however for when he hit down the first base line Taylor dashed to the bag as Kingman was fielding the ball. Harry got the ball in his possession alright and then timed his throw to Taylor at first perfectly so that the ball and the pitcher reached the bag at the same minute.

Baseball Notes

The game which was witnessed yesterday by an ordinary crowd was one of the best ever seen on the local diamond, for out of the eighteen men on the field there was but one who made an error in the whole of nine innings. The man who did make the error can certainly be excused, for it happened to be that little wiry stellar ball player named Kirihara who plays shortstop but holds down second base, left field and sometimes short center at the same time. Some of his grabs yesterday it seems, ought to be good enough to win him a place on any big league team. In the sixth frame particularly this boy shone for after Thatch's long hit Kingman thought he had a bingle when he smacked the ball to the opposite side of second base from where Kirihara stands. But in spite of the distance and the speed of the ball this little freshman from Keio was there in a second and stuck out his mitt pulled the ball in and zipped Kingman out at first which was without a doubt a daylight robbery.

• • •

Wiley played a good game in right field for he played the field perfectly, always in the exact spot of the ball came that way. His head work on Nimura and Nagai's hits to that region stopped them from being credited with two baggers. Wiley looks good at the bat also for he waits them out and generally gets a free pass to first but he does take too big a lead on base.

• • •

Bristow played a good game yesterday for his long sacrifice in the sixth frame was what scored Thatch from third and his game behind the bat was just as good. In the eighth inning he sent Takagi back to the bench by his sensational catch of a foul fly which went to the stands.

• • •

This man Nagai who twirled for the Keio aggregation is by no means an easy pitcher to hit for he has everything a hurler could want and is one on the meanest hitters among the visitors while his catch of Scott's fly in the opening inning was disheartening to the locals. Scott hit a short fly just over Nagai's head. The Nipponese pitcher turned quickly and while the ball was coming over his head from the rear he pulled it in safely.

• • •

Buck Taylor who is said to have the finest collection of fouls among the Gallopers got a nice bingle in the seventh inning after he had changed bats twice. "Buck" went to bat with one stick, took a strike then changed bats and took another whiff and when he finally got his favorite willow he socked out a nice bingle which looked dangerous to the Keio gang although he was forced out at second base.

• • •

The fourth game of the series will be played tomorrow afternoon beginning at about five o'clock while the remaining two arguments will be settled on Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

Thursday Night's Card; Johnny Hill, Kid Gabo And Jack Sanders Leaving Today

Champions come and champions go! Joe Dillon, flyweight champion of the Pacific Coast, passed through our midst in the Korea Maru for Manila, where he is under contract for three fights at the Olympic Stadium. One of his opponents will undoubtedly be Clever Sencio, the flyweight champion of the Orient, and there is a possibility of Kid Gabo having a knock at the American champ. Kid Gabo, holder of the flyweight championship belt of China, and Johnny Hill, the featherweight champion, are leaving today by the President Wilson. They will be accompanied by Jack Sanders.

• • •

The boys will only be away for a month or so. Johnny means to cop the featherweight title of the Orient, and, with this end in view, will try and force Tenebro Santos into the ring. Fight fans in the Islands will, no doubt, be surprised at the improvement Hill has made during his short sojourn here when he has been under the wing of Mr. Percival, who has handled a number of champs in his heyday.

• • •

A slight alteration has been made in the card for Thursday night. Bobby Favacho will meet Cyclone Williams in a six-round go, with Kid Mystery and Cyclone Nefsky settling their little differences in the semi-final of eight rounds. The curtain-raiser will be Terrible Pete and Battling Kuba.

• • •

Syd Keenan and Rufe Canion will be the principals in the main event. Both boys will toe the line mark at two o'clock tomorrow afternoon. There will be plenty of action in everyone of the bouts, more especially in the big contest, where both boys are known to be hard hitters and glutions for punishment. Syd Keenan has been training hard the last few weeks at the S.V.C. gymnasium with Billy Tingle.

• • •

Canion is ambitious, to say the least, as I understand he is out for Tingle's title, after which he will make tracks for Johnny Hill, as he is confident of being able to beat the curly-haired southpaw. Local followers of fistiania are divided in their opinions as to the outcome of the Hill-Canion scrap should it ever eventuate. Johnny is out of the general run of southpaws in this—that his poise in the ring puzzles many a clever ring expert. Moreover, he carries an awful wallop in both mitts, and, as Mr. Percival states, the usual system of beating a lefthander fails to work with Hill. On the other hand, Canion hits hard and straight as was evinced in his fight with Angel de la Cruz when the latter was floored time and again with wallops from both fists. With all this I must plank for Hill, and, I am sure, when the time comes for the boys to step in the ring, seats will be at a premium.

Gobs Have Great Time At Navy 'Y' In Chefoo

(China Press Correspondence)

Chefoo, China, August 12.—When the U. S. Asiatic Fleet arrived in Chefoo at the end of June, the Navy Y.M.C.A. quarters, spacious and adequately equipped, were ready for receiving the sailors. The arrangements were more complete than in former years, many important additions having been made to the plant. Among these are two tennis and two basketball courts and a hand ball court.

Mr. Paul W. Brown, executive secretary of the Shanghai Navy Y.M.C.A. and Mr. Amos W. Hazard, physical director, are in charge of the Chefoo Navy "Y" work. They are aided by a staff of young women from Shanghai who are spending their vacation time in Chefoo helping the Navy "Y" entertain the sailors. These ladies are: Mrs. Paul W. Brown, Mrs. Amos W. Hazard, Mrs. Wilber Judd, Miss Hilda Murray, Miss Ethel Lacy, Miss Marian Toulmin, Miss Helen Ritner and Miss Nadya Saltikova. American ladies living in Chefoo have organised themselves into a Community Ladies' Committee to assist the Navy "Y" in its social work. There is an advisory committee of the Navy Y.M.C.A. composed of prominent men of Chefoo including the American Consul. The ladies arrange and conduct the sightseeing trips, picnics, hikes, tennis parties, dances and socials and help at the religious services.

The Navy "Y" is only a step from the landing jetty and easily accessible to the sailors. The establishment has a large, clean, cool restaurant, ready to serve meals at any time. A large tent is used for a reading and writing place. Other facilities are a barber shop, social and music rooms, well stocked canteen, soda fountain, photograph developing and printing service and money exchange. In a large court is a stage for boxing and wrestling. Moving pictures are shown in the same open air court. At these and other open air entertainments, including concerts, there is nightly an audience of from 1,500 to 2,000 sailors. Fishing, swimming and sightseeing trips have been arranged by the Navy "Y" during the past ten weeks of operation.

The Community Ladies' Committee, composed of more than twenty of the resident ladies of Chefoo, formed themselves into a group to aid the Navy "Y" in its entertainment work for the sailors stationed here. These ladies serve as hostesses at the Sunday afternoon concerts and teas. They collect magazines, library books and games for the navy men; hold concerts at which local volunteer players and singers take part. They requisition tennis courts for the use of the men, and supply the Navy "Y" rooms with flowers and plants. Representing sub-committees of this sailor's welfare organisation are Mrs. Nipps, Mrs. Rockford and Mrs. Railton. A publicity and public welfare sub-committee co-operates with the Men's Committee in the general helpful work for the sailors. Nine tennis courts are used by the sailors.

NAVY ACTIVITIES

A fleet welfare committee arranges, under the direction of the Fleet Welfare Officer, interesting social and athletic events. Lieut.-Comdr. T. G. Berrien, U. S. N., is now supervising the production of a first class minstrel show. This show will be staged at the Navy "Y" middle of August and will be the star performance of the season. Exceptional musical talent has been discovered among the sailors and good comedians are not wanting.

The fleet has arranged the following athletic events: (a) Fleet whaleboat sailing races for 'Department Trophy', (b) Fleet whaleboat rowing races for 'Department Trophy', (c) Fleet swimming races.

The following official ship championships for Destroyers, Minelayers and Mine sweepers: (a) Whaleboat sailing races for the Thanksgiving Challenge Cup, (b) Whaleboat rowing races for the President's Trophy', (c) Baseball competition for the Hongkong Challenge Cup. (d) Basketball games.

The following official ship championships for sub-marines: (a) Baseball competition for the Amoy Challenge Cup; (b) Basketball championship.

Keen interest is being taken by the sailors in these Navy sports.

SAILORS AT PLAY

The following Navy "Y" summer activities to date have occupied the sailors' playtime.

Athletics.—Three baseball ground were secured where games are played between ship nines every afternoon in the week. The tennis courts at the Navy "Y" and the courts supplied by residents are in use daily. Boxing bouts and wrestling matches are staged every Saturday night and witnessed by nearly 2000 sailors. These bouts have brought out many fast and clever boxers who are a credit to the navy. Townspeople attend these exhibitions. At boxing and wrestling matches held at the Navy "Y," naval officers are detailed from the flag ship, Huron, the sub-marines and the destroyers to act as judges.

There are games of basketball, volley ball and minor games. Besides tennis and swimming, there are athletic sports for prizes.

Outings—There are shore suppers in the evening, day picnics in the hills, hikes, sightseeing trips on donkeys and excursions in launches to neighboring islands.

Movies—The latest and best pictures supplied from Shanghai are shown four nights a week in the open air, attended by an average of a thousand sailors. The programs have twelve reels and the shows last until time for the men to return to their ships.

Other Entertainments—A dance is given every Friday night. Many ladies are glad to help make these dances enjoyable. The dances are held on the tennis courts, and the ship bands play. Concerts are gotten up by the Community Ladies' Committee, and receptions, teas, socials and "state" suppers are arranged by them. Sailor "stunt" nights are hilarious occasions. There are band concerts, smokers and "candy pulls." There is something every day and evening for the sailor's entertainment.

Religious—Fleet services are held every Sunday morning on the U.S.S. Huron by Lieut. T. P. Riddle, U.S.N., Fleet Chaplain. Chaplain Riddle also holds religious services at the Navy Y.M.C.A. There is a Navy "Y" song service every Sunday evening which is well attended.

The Navy Y.M.C.A. is the only place in Chefoo where the sailors can find wholesome entertainment and it is there that they spend most of their time on shore.

There are 30 U.S. ships in port with crews totalling 4,000 men. The fleet will remain in Chefoo until the end of September.

New York Menaced By Quake Danger, Scientist Asserts

(Reuter's American Service)

Philadelphia, July 13.—"There is a very real danger that New York City may suffer from an earthquake one of these days," said Professor David Todd, of Amherst College, professor of astronomy and internationally known scientist, who is spending the summer on the estate of Mr. P. S. Sharples, near West Chester.

New York City he said, is as likely a site for the next earthquake as any in the United States, because two layers beneath the surface of the ground come together under the city. When terrific pressure comes on this point it is inevitable that it should crack, he said.

The pressure which eventually would force this joint apart and cause an earthquake is caused by the thousands and thousands of tons which are being heaped on to the island in the shape of huge building and still higher foundations, he said.

He predicted that the destruction following a quake would be more terrible than that which followed the Japanese upheaval last summer.

Property Seized In Big Opium Raid Is Disposed Of

The question of the disposal of the property seized in the big opium raid which located $50,000 worth of the stuff at 14 Kisap Leong Ka Monday afternoon was brought up at the Mixed Court yesterday before Mr. Jacobs, American Assessor, and Mr. Ma trate Loh, an application being made for a Court order covering disposition.

In addition to over 660 pounds of opium, close to $2,000 in cash was seized, including a few hundred dollars light-weight silver, and a large quantity of miscellaneous articles. The Court ordered all the property seized to be confiscated, and the opium destroyed.

No arrests have been reported as yet. Two occupants of the house had apparently got wind of the police arrived, without advertising intended raid, and left before the their destination.

REPORTS DETAIL BIG EXTENT OF FLOOD DAMAGE

Peking, Aug. 10.—The following reports from various flooded areas have been received by the China International Famine Relief Commission under dates of August 7th, 8th and 9th:

Fangshan—Heavy rains occurred here in the middle of July and the Ta Shih Ho and Chu Ma Ho rose very rapidly, washing away the majority of the villages sited on low levels. The number of deaths is small, but the crops are undoubtedly ruined.

Hokien—Continuous rain in the beginning of July resulted in the destruction of many houses, and the crops suffered considerably.

Yaoyang—The location of this hsien close to the Fu To Ho is very unfortunate, for the break in the river dyke inundated some seventy villages in the northern and eastern portions of the hsien, covering the plain with more than four feet of water.

Neikiu—The five rivers in this hsien rose simultaneously, and it is estimated that 190 villages were flooded out of a total of 200.

Tsubsien—The Fu Ho, Chang Ho and Wang Ho have risen rapidly during the past month, 49 villages being inundated by the storms of July 22nd-July 25th.

Shentsch—More than sixty villages have been flooded here by the rising of the Fu To Ho, most of the houses collapsing.

Ankuo—Continuous rains here resulted in a break in the Sha Ho dyke, some hundred square miles being flooded and more than ten thousand people affected.

Wuki—Frequent rains throughout July resulted in the flooding of all the villages on low levels, but the water is now receding.

Lungkuan—The month of July was marked by heavy rains and the low levels were inundated, many houses collapsing. The rain has now ceased.

Liangkochwang—The vicinity of the flooded area to the hills is in the main responsible for the losses incurred, the water rushing down with great velocity. It is estimated that some 2,000 people are destitute as a result of the destruction of their crops in this district.

Wuyi—Continuous rain was experienced here since the beginning of July with the result that the Fuyang river over flowed its banks and submerged all the villages to the north east, some 150 being reported as affected.

Yung Cheng—A missionary reports from here that a big storm was experienced here on July 10th and that on July 12th a sudden flood broke the dykes in four places over a length of some 3,000 feet. All the farms were inundated, and there is now about eight feet of water on the fields.

HOW TO USE U.S. GOLD IS STUDIED BY AUTHORITIES

Bankers Consider Ways To Avoid Dangers Of Inflation

New York, July 7.—Additional light was thrown last week on the great abundance of loanable funds that has been piled up in the United States, and with renewed interest the nation's most eminent bankers and officers of the Federal Reserve system have resumed their study of a condition which, in American history, has been without precedent. The report of exchanges made by the Clearing House Association established last week a new high record, exceeding by $400,000,000 the previous high record, and while at the close of the week there was a moderate firming in some classes of money rates, the general picture showed that commercial rates were on a line close to the Federal Reserve Bank's rediscount rate.

According to bankers, there is more money seeking an outlet in New York than ever before in the country's history. This abundance does not follow alone from a seasonal slackening in the nation's business, but has resulted more from the continued high rate of gold imports into the United States. This gold flow has been pouring into the reserves of the member banks; it has given them the means of expanding their own credit resources and, naturally, they have not needed to turn to the Government institution for loans. In this fact lies the reason for the ever mounting size of the nation's credit resources. For every dollar in gold thus received, it was said, there has been a proportionate increase of seven dollars in credit power.

HOW TO EMPLOY IT

Finding a channel or outlet for this expanding credit power has proved one of the most interesting of explorations. A small part of the excess credit power can find its way into forthcoming foreign Government and foreign corporate loans, but from the present point of view this would apparently take up only a fraction of the great amount of money and credit now available. American industrial needs, it was stated, could easily be handled without touching more than a very small part of the total of new resources built up.

While presenting a financial strength that holds for this country a world of opportunity, there has been found a possible source of danger: this through gold inflation. The peril of possible gold inflation has for many months been held before bankers as a thing to be avoided at all costs; and the efforts of Federal Reserve System executives have been consistently directed against such a possibility. The net result has been, thus far, to restrain the urge toward too rapid an expansion of credit; and on the strength of past achievements, many bankers believe that the nation will be able indefinitely to withstand the temptation toward expansion. A strong minority viewpoint is by no means so confident; the first evidences of an actual gold inflation have already made their appearance, in this view, and unless remedies stronger than those employed to date are found, it is feared that the nation may embark upon a period of inflation that would beggar by description the rushing period of 1920 and 1921.

How to dispose of the surplus power in such a way as to help the world and injure no one has brought forth several suggestions from international bankers. A few of these suggestions, which in some instances have met with hearty accord and in a few with strong opposition, are as follows:

The establishment of credits for foreign nations on a liberal scale. This proposal has already received the stamp of approval of the Federal Reserve Board, and judging from the results of the first half of this year, it is being carried out aggressively.

Lowering of tariff schedules. This operation is necessary, according to some viewpoints (which, incidentally, are expressed by bankers regardless of political party affiliations), in order to pave the way for foreign trade. America now holds the bulk of the world's gold, so one banker who is President of a large commercial institution with foreign branches declared, and only through shipping goods into America can foreign producers hope to regain a part of this supply. By establishing tariff barriers that are too high, the United States automatically blocks the channels for imports; and to pay for American exports, it remains for the foreign buyers to ship only one thing—namely, gold—of which the country now has an overabundance.

Storing gold. An artificial means has been suggested, to consist of the earmarking of gold received by the United States Treasury and the Federal Reserve Banks; this gold which is not actually needed in meeting American wants would be set aside and labeled for an eventual return to Europe, its value not to be employed in the currency requirements of the United States.

PRUDENT POLICY FOLLOWED

A variety of other remedies and proposed remedies have been advanced, but these three appear to have elicited the greatest response from international financiers who have given the subject study. According to them, the careful and prudent administration of the country's financial policies to date has steered the country clear of expansion danger; and while the way is being charted over an unknown sea, there are many who believe that a gradual restoration to more normal standards can be brought about without serious difficulty.

One of the great stumbling blocks has been found in the shipment of gold to the United States in payment of the British Government's debt, and suggestions that similar action be enforced in the case of the French and Italian debts have served to chill the enthusiasm of some bankers who frankly opposed the inauguration of debt payments in advance of a general composition of the whole international debt problem. But arrayed against these financiers has been a strong public opinion which has insisted upon an early effort by foreign nations to square their accounts with the American Government. As a result, their protests have received but scant attention, and the Government policy has been to arrange for the payments of debts with carefully prepared antidotes in the form of loans through private institutions and investors to European Governments and corporate enterprises.

Editor Tells Of Big Canadian Coal Field

Montreal, July 1.—In "Coal Age" M. D. Geddes, Canadian editor and coal expert, points out that "as determined by the geological survey 1913 the total coal reserve of Canada, which includes the Northwest Territories, the Yukon and the Arctic Islands, are placed at 1,234,269,000,000 metric tons, of which Alberta is credited with 1,072,627,000,000, or over 85 percent.

"The total world reserves are placed at 7,397,553,000,000 tons, so it will be seen that out of every seven tons of coal in the world one is in the province of Alberta. To put this in another way, Alberta has 15 percent of the known coal supply of the world, over 70 percent of all coal known to exist in countries under the Union Jack and fully 85 percent of all coal in Canada."

"It has been figured that Alberta alone has sufficent coal to supply a hundred million people for 170 centuries," the writer goes on to say. "The coal deposits of that province cover an area exceeding 81,000 square miles. Authorities tell us there are more than 45 billion tons of anthracite, semi-anthracite or high-carbon bituminous coals and this quality at the present rate of consumption would last over 14 centuries before the low carbon bituminous or lignite coals would require to be used. Quite a considerable quantity of the lignite coal is of extra high quality, and as it is close to present railway lines is being used exclusively.

"In a small way, Alberta is beginning to supply coal to small areas in the adjoining states of Montana, Idaho and Washington, the chief market at present being the city of Spokane, where Alberta coal today can be laid down 75 cents per ton below the price of Utah coal. This market consumes about 100,000 tons of Alberta coal annually and is a growing market."

The writer quotes the Dominion Fuel Board as reporting the United States Bureau of Mines two years ago unofficially warned the Canadian Department of Mines that within a short time Canada would have to work out her own solution for replacing the anthracite now exported to the Dominion from the United States.

SILK BUSINESS IMPROVING, SAYS GEORGE A. POST

Expert Predicts Enlargement Of Activities In View Of Low Price

New York, July 12.—"I want o impress upon you that silks are looking up, and if a heavy demand develops in any particular fabrics we will have a hard time making deliveries," Georges A. Post, of the Post and Sheldon Corporation and a vice president of the Silk Association of America, told the Wholesalers' Association of Dress Fabric Buyers at the Waldorf-Astoria yesterday [illegible].

Mr. Post gave a brief review of the silk situation since the earthquake in Japan last September. He referred to the fact that the industry in this country is now working under favorable conditions as regards the exchange rate. The low value of the yen means a reduction of $1 to $1.15 a pound for raw silk as compared with what it would bring on a normal exchange rate.

The Silk Association of America, he said, considers the future supply of raw silk as its most important work. He told of the work being done in the development of sericulture in the East because "we are going to need the silk."

"I predict," he continued, "that if we can get the supply and keep silk prices in line with all other commodities silk departments will have to be enlarged. Today silk is much nearer prewar prices than cotton or wool and at the prices we can supply silks for dresses (say at $9.75) and underwear and hosiery we are going to do the biggest business in the world's history.

"The large profits of retailers and others are bound to be reduced. One dollar of the consumer will have to buy more goods than heretofore. Efficiency and not losses of manufacturers will be the deciding factor in the future. People that use cheap money and credit use good foresight, and who buy from manufacturers that run steadily and economically (if the buyers will allow them) are the ones that are going to do the good and prosperous business.

"I am pinning my faith on the low price of raw silk and the consequent low cost to the consumer. If Japan will co-operate with us in keeping prices down we will have the largest silk business in the history of the world."

Mr. Post expressed regret that the wholesalers have not been buying as freely as formerly, though he agreed that "hand-to-mouth business is the only way in a falling market," adding, "but you will find that this will not pay when business becomes normal and there is gradual rise in prices."

Mr. George A. Post, is one of America's most important Silk Manufacturers and was a member of the First American Silk Mission which visited Shanghai and the Orient in 1920.

Russia Is Improving Many Industries, Says Berlin Writer

Berlin, July 10.—That with the introduction of the "new economic policy" in 1921, Russian industry began to revive after the great crisis period that followed the war and the revolution there is no room for doubt. This tendency toward improvement is noted in the most important branches of production.

In deciding on reorganising industry on a basis of State capitalism the Soviet Government knew how to select the soundest enterprises and create with them some 500 trusts and syndicates embracing 5,000 enterprises with a total of a million workers. According to the latest official figures there are at present in Russia 38,000 State industrial enterprises with a total of 1,600,000 workers.

In a majority of the industries production has reached 33 percent of that attained before the war. In the petroleum industry the proportion amounts to 50 percent, while the metallurgic industry amounts to only 9 percent. In profits from exploitation the results are less favorable. Although in 1923 some industries showed a certain profit, the majority had not yet succeded in covering their expenses and have to depend on Government subsidies.

The Soviet Government's subsidies to different Russian industries during the last few years exceeded 200,000,000 gold rubles a year. Nevertheless, the Soviet authorities have complete faith in the future of Russian industry, the process of restoration of which they believe they could accelerate considerably if they could obtain the necessary credits abroad.

Another point on which information was sought is the discovery of new riches, about which sensational reports are frequently read in the foreign press. Manifestly, Russia, whose riches it would be difficult to exaggerate, contains no end of potential sources of wealth, but that does not mean that they can be exploited within the next few years. In the opinion of foreign business men in Russia all the rumors about the discovery of new riches are strongly exaggerated.

"For the present," an American business man said, "all of us, including the Russian Government, would be satisfied if only the riches already discovered were placed on a rational and productive basis of exploitation."

Philippine Trade Balance Is Good

Washington, July 12.—A decrease in Philippine imports and a slight increase in exports in May resulted in a favorable trade balance of 14,766,000 pesos (one peso equuals 50c), the second largest of the year, exports having exceeded imports in March by 17,956,000 pesos. The Department of Commerce states that total exports in May amounted to 26,322,000 pesos. A decrease of 1,895,000 pesos in the value of sugar shipments, with the close of the milling season, was more than offset by advances in exports of cocoanut oil, copra and copra cake. Tobacco, cigar and cigarette exports also showed increases over over April.

Imports for the month totaled 11,556,000 pesos, a decline of 1,521,000 pesos from April, largely accounted for by decreases in imports of wheat flour, meat and dairy products and paper and paper manufacturers. Imports of iron and steel remained about the same as the previous month, and cotton cloths showed a slight increase.

The accumulated excess of exports of 60,080,000 pesos at the close of May compared favorably with the trade balance of 43,407,000 pesos at the same time last year. The Islands' total trade for the first five months of the current year, amounting to 207,618,000 pesos, showed an advance of 28,231,000 pesos over the accumulated total trade of the same period in 1923.

The values of leading commodities entering into the foreign trade of the Philippines are shown in the following table:

Oriental Imports From United States Are On Increase

Washington, July 13.—American exports to the Far East for May, 1924, amounted to $54,190,000, an 18 percent advance over May, 1923, and a 14 percent increase over the previous month this year, the Commerce Department reports. Compared with April, 1924, U.S. sales of manufactured products to British India dropped 8 percent; to Australia, 5.5 percent; and to New Zealand, 3.6 percent. On the other hand, the Straits Settlements increased their purchases 60 percent, the Dutch East Indies 45 percent, the Philippines 33 percent, China 24 percent and Japan 14 percent.

For the eleven months ended May 31, 1924, our total trade with the Far East aggregated $672,000,000, as against imports valued at $920,000,000, but our unfavorable trade balance was reduced from $463,000,000, for the same period during 1923, to $158,000,000.

Japan continues to prove the best market in the Far East for American goods, taking $15,971,000 worth, or 4.7 percent of our entire May exports. These purchases consisted largely of raw cotton, machinery, lumber and structural iron and steel. Compared with May, 1923, our sales to Japan, however, showed a total decrease of $4,000,000, due to the general drop in Japanese imports after the speculative era was passed.

Machinery lumber and structural iron and steel. Compared with May, 1923, our sales to Japan, however, showed a total decrease of $4,000,000, due to the general drop in Japanese imports after the speculative era was passed.

China ranked second as a market for our products for May, absorbing $11,144,000 worth, or 3.3 percent of our total foreign shipments. Its purchases of American goods showed an advance of $3,000,000 over those of May, 1923. This country affords an outlet for our kerosene, tobacco products, lumber and wheat.

Australia dropped to third place in Oriental trade, but still purchased 3 percent of American shipments, amounting to $10,775,000. This showed an advance of $3,250,000 over those of May, 1923, even though less than for April of this year. This country is one of our best foreign customers for automobiles, and also buys considerable quantities of cotton goods, machinery, typewriters, office supplies and other specialties. New Zealand's share of our exports was less than for the previous month, as well as for May, 1924, amounting to $1,646,000, or 5 percent of the total.

Sales to British India and Malaysia together totaled $4,181,000, or 1.2 percent of our total foreign sales, and represented a combined increase of $1,919,000 over May, 1924. The principal items were automobiles, iron and steel machinery and leather goods. The Philippines took $5,367,000 of our goods for the same period, including in their principal orders cotton products, machinery and specialties.

Weather Reports

Aug. 11.—The typhoon advances slowly between the Loochoos and the coast, a little to the S of the 27th parallel. Another minimum appears to the S of the Bonins; a narrow centre develops between Formosa and Luzon. Rather hard cyclonic winds between the mouth of the Yangtze and the Formosa Strait. E to NE breezes on the Yellow Sea. Weather cloudy or overcast along our coasts. Rain in the afternoon at Formosa; fog in the Gulf of Tongking.

Aug. 12.—The thunder is heard several times after 1 a.m. some light showers. Weather dark, damp and threatening. The pressure is rising a little. Fresh NE breezes tending to veer to ENE with occasional squalls.

Weather cloudy or overcast possible with some showers and squalls. Very rough weather and hard cyclonic winds at Sea between Shanghai, the Loochoos, Formosa and the coast of China because of the typhoon nearly stationary or moving very slowly between Meaco-Simas and Naha...A new centre to the South of the Bonins will probably advance NW. wards.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Leon of Shanghai announce the engagement of their eldest daughter Marie Leon to Mr. Ch. Sim Zecha son of Mrs. Sim Keng Koen of Soekaboemi, Java. Shanghai, August 12th, 1924.

How Chinese Students Are Affected By The New U. S. Immigration Law

ABOUT eighty Chinese students in Shanghai and about two hundred in China altogether are being delayed on their sailing for the United States because of the slowness of Governmental departments in Washington in putting the new Immigration Law into effect. From the standpoint of the Chinese students themselves, they are displaying commendable patience in view of the fact that the long wait in Shanghai has been extremely embarrassing and costly and in some cases may result in inability of the students to reach their colleges in time for the September openings.

The new "quota" Immigration Law passed by the U. S. Congress on May 26 contains a clause which regulates the admission of students to the United States. The clause apparently applies to students of all nationalities desirous of entering American colleges or universities in view of the fact that persons coming under the classification of "student" are called in the law "non-quota" immigrants and as such are not bound by the "quotas" which are applied to immigrants from the various countries. The clause in the Immigration Law applying to students reads as follows:

"'An immigrant who is a bona-fide student at least 15 years of age and who seeks to enter the United States solely for the purpose of study at an accredited school, college, academy, seminary or university, particularly designated by him and approved by the Secretary of Labor which shall have agreed to report to the Secretary of Labor the termination of attendance of each immigrant student, and if any such institution of learning fails to make such reports promptly the approval shall be withdrawn."

In interpretation of this clause, the Department of State supplied some time ago to all American Consuls abroad the following instructions:

"Non-quota Students:—An intending immigrant claiming the status of student who is at least 15 years of age, and who desires to enter the United States solely for the purpose of study at an accredited school, college, academy, seminary or university, may file with a Consular officer an application for a non-quota immigrant vise. His purpose, however, shall have previously been communicated to the Secretary of Labor and the student shall have designated the institution at which he proposes to study. Consular officers may, when requested, transmit the inquiry and the documents of the prospective student to the Department of State for the Secretary of Labor, who, in accordance with the provisions of the law, shall designate and approve the institution, which the immigrant expects to attend. Notice of this approval by the Secretary of Labor will be communicated to the Secretary of State, who will, in turn, inform the Consular officer in regard thereto and authorise the Consular officer to issue the vise."

The fact that there was included in the recent immigration law a special clause pertaining to the admission of students does not imply that any restrictions are to be placed upon the number of students going to America from China or elsewhere for educational purposes. The United States always has held the door wide open for the admission of students desirous of attending American educational institutions, so the present legislation is intended purely for the purpose of simplifying their admission.

But the attempt to simplify the admission of students, apparently has, from the standpoint of this year's class of Chinese students, mixed things up, for in spite of numerous urgent cables by Consul-General Cunningham to Washington nearly a hundred students are being held up here and probably as many more at other places such as Canton, Tientsin and elsewhere. The new immigration law was passed on May 26 and went into effect on July 1, but under the law the regulations for putting it into force had to be drafted by a committee composed of the Secretaries of State, Labor and Commerce. This apparently is where the delay exists for it was only a few days ago that the Consulate-General in Shanghai received the blanks which the prospective students are required to fill out.

To state the case in simple terms, each student desirous of going to America to attend college must fill out a blank form giving the name of the college he intends to enter. This form is sent to Washington, and if the school is an "accredited" institution with the Department of Labor, instructions are then issued to the American Consul to grant the student a vise on his passport which enables him to enter the United States as a "non-quota" immigrant. The difficulty, from the standpoint of China, is that the blank forms arrived too late to permit them to be mailed back to the United States for approval and then for the instructions to be sent back again to the American Consulate to issue a passport vise. Individual students are trying to overcome this delay by sending cables to the Department of Labor giving the names of colleges they intend to enter, but thus far no results have been obtained from this method, so there is a possibility that a considerable number of Chinese students may be delayed in entering the various colleges and universities this fall.

The foregoing regulations only apply to the so-called non-indemnity students who are going to America either on private support or upon the support of provincial governments or institutions such as business houses, banks or missionary institutions. The students from Tsing Hua College in Peking to the number of about 80 who carry diplomatic passports are not affected by the new Immigration Law.

The Summer Palace

MORE than a small storm has been created in Peking by the appointment of Mr. Johnston, the British Tutor to the Manchu Emperor, as Warden of the Summer Palace at Peking, and enunciation of a policy calculated to enhance the popularity of the palace as a place of interest by the furnishing of suitable conveniences for the sightseer. The plan embraced nothing more formidable than the provision of a place for the suitable refreshment of visitors who have to make a long hot motor trip from the capital to see the place, and the establishment of a regular scale of charges to meet the cost of adequately maintaining this beautiful property. There is not in any statement of Mr. Johnston's policy that we have seen, anything calculated to confirm the hastily drawn conclusion of certain Chinese Parliamentarians that Mr. Johnston sought to introduce an atmosphere of pure commercialism into the maintenance of the Summer Palace, or that he was seeking by such means to obtain sufficient money for the restoration of the ex-emperor to his former throne. When the number of visitors to the Summer Palace is taken into consideration, and the fact that the visit is made expensive enough by the cost of getting there, it is inconceivable that Mr. Johnston could introduce anything like an imposing scale of charges or that, if he did, much more than sufficient to keep the building and ground is satisfactory condition would be forthcoming.

We do not propose to discuss any of the other points which have risen in the controversy, than the wisdom of the decision to which Mr. Johnston has come. At the time of the Revolution these buildings were in a good state of repair, and the same may be said now, or if that be not entirely the case, that whatever damage the passage of some thirteen years has done, can be remedied at comparatively slight cost. A recent visit to the Summer Palace revealed the glories of this remarkable example of architecture, set in grounds redolent with a dignified solemnity which seems to set them apart from the rest of the world. The grounds are still in excellent shape, and it is hard to believe that the money for effecting this is obtained from the ridiculously low charges of admission which are at present made, and even more difficult to believe that it is supplied from the allowance which the Republic is pledged to make the ex-Emperor, but which in fact it has not the grace to pay.

But while this description may be true of the Summer Palace, it certainly is not of the park surrounding the Temple and Altar of Heaven. There there is indeed desolation. Rank weeds grow apace, finding lodgment in the interstices between some of the masonry, while in the courtyard from which rises the noble pile of the Temple of Heaven there is an undergrowth of weed, at least two feet high, almost completely obliterating traces of the tiled flooring which lays underneath. The buildings themselves show signs of neglect, such neglect as in the long run attains a cumulative effect to hasten the achievement of ultimate ruin. Here also a small charge for admission is made. What becomes of the money we do not know, but it is gravely to be doubted if it would be sufficient to pay for even a tithe of the work necessary to maintain in their proper condition the emblems of the dignity of a great nation.

On comparison of these two examples, we have not the slightest doubt that Mr. Johnston's policy in connection with the post to which he has been appointed by the ex-Emperor is entirely correct. We can conceive of no aesthetic injury being done the Summer Palace by due consideration of the comfort of visitors, who should be made adequately to pay for the privilege of seeing the former glories of the rulers of China. This place is an historic monument worthy of proper maintenance, and if the Chinese republicans are not disposed to provide the necessary funds, it is difficult to see why the ex-Emperor, to whom this palace is still entrusted, should not be allowed to make whatever dispositions he considers necessary for the protection of this delightful place from the ravages of time. It indeed seems that he and his advisers are showing a better appreciation of their duties than those responsible for the upkeep of the Temple of Heaven.

The Wiles Of Rum Runners

IT is one of the most saddening reflections for students of human nature that, not infrequently, those bent on defeating the ends of justice contrive to exercise ingenuity worthy of a better object. Thus a Vancouver report published in another column today tells of the use of "decoy" women as an innovation among rum runners in Puget Sound and British Columbia waters. We in this part of the world are familiar with some of the vain tricks with which drug smugglers seek to put the minions of the law off the scent, but the story from Vancouver is the last word in scientific roguery. Recently a large yacht arrived in English Bay, near Vancouver. It was observed that women were seated in luxurious wicker chairs on deck. The vessel dropped anchor, the awning canvas was run back on a roller and the women disappeared. Only the pilot house was visible. Liquor then was loaded in the yacht, and as it cleared, the canvas, wicker chairs and women reappeared. Later, according to fishermen at Everatt, Washington, the ship tried to land liquor there. But a suspicious craft appeared and a quick getaway was decided on. The vessel speeded toward Vancouver, and it is at this point that the comic relief to the incident is furnished. In the excitement, one of the women on deck fell overboard. Fishermen rescued her and found she was a dummy.

For the next few years, no doubt, the minority in the United States who are for liquor will continue to resist the will of the majority of the people of the country whose sanction alone has enabled the Eighteenth Amendment to stand on the statute books of America. This unequal contest is being waged apparently on the principle that people cannot have their morals regulated by legislation, although statistics will prove that the Volstead Act has been instrumental in raising industrial efficiency all round and contributing to the happiness of American homes. A recent article in Collier's, the National Weekly, by Jack O'Donnell, entitled "They're Drinking More Than Ever," reads in part:

"Why don't they stop the leak over in the permit department?" I asked one official who is familiar with the system employed in the Internal Revenue Division.

"Presidential year"! he replied, winking.

Pressed for an explanation, this official said, "I'm not interested in politics, but I know when politics is being played. More permits are being issued this year than last, and they'll continue to increase up to November. Draw your own conclusions!"

Without, however, drawing specific conclusions, says the Christian Science Monitor, one is warranted in commenting on the statements themselves. If they represent facts, it should be possible for the American people to demand that action be taken to militate against so scandalous a situation, and to obtain a response to that demand; if they represent fiction, a denial from an authoritative source not only appears called for, but would immeasurably strengthen the hand of the Administration.

Anyhow, whether or not the deduction drawn by the official quoted in the foregoing extract is justifiable that a leak exists in the permit division of the Internal Revenue of the United States Government appears to be incontrovertible. Through this leak millions of gallons of alcohol are finding their way to bootleggers all over the country and are being concocted yearly into considerably more than 150,000,000 gallons of bad whisky and synthetic gin.

It is unwise to attempt to place blame too positively on any individual or organisation without absolute knowledge of the facts surrounding a situation. Hence, outspokenly to declare, as the article above quoted does, "If prohibition has failed, the blame belongs to official Washington," is hardly justified from present knowledge. Such a statement takes too many things for granted. Facts, however, do warrant the assertion that official Washington could do more than it is doing at the present time to insure the enforcement of the Volstead Law. And the average law-abiding citizen, of whom there are millions in the country, would cast his ballot in November with a far greater sense of satisfaction if he felt assured that such a state of affairs as is represented in this leak in the permit division had not had the remotest thing to do with the campaigning for the presidential election.

EXCERPTS FROM GREAT WRITERS

THERE IS NO LABORING CLASS

It canot too often be stated that the labor problem is not a class affair, but that it concerns the intire human race. There may be a class of aristocrats, of plutocrats, of criminals, of society idlers, or of any such group whose instinct is to withdraw itself from the common mass of humanity. But for laborers this is an impossibility. They remain, and must remain, part and parcel of the whole people. They are the people. There can be no laboring class. It is a contradiction of terms.

Especially is this true in America, where, from the President of the country down to the coal-heaver, everybody is supposed to work. So strong is this supposition, that the inference is that whoever does not bear some part of the world's burden is a diseased unit in humanity. The ultimate aim of all normal progress in social justice is to remove these units. All who have wealth in excess of a reasonable accumulation of the products of their own labor, all who live on endowment and inheritance, all who are sycophants, idlers, or holders of sinecures, must some day, when the terms of justice shall have been worked out, be put to work, and those who will not work shall not eat.

Just by what route the millennial state of simple equity shall come we cannot say, but come it surely will, and the profits of individual labor of brawn or brain shall go to the individual, and the profits arising from the state or social combination shall go to the state, to the people as a whole.

One of the most far-reaching acts of 1914 was the statement by the national Congress, in its passage of the anti-trust law preventing the use of the Sherman Act against trade unions, that "the labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce."

The implications of this declaration it will be difficult to see for some time. It seems now to strike a blow at the very center of the old system of business under which the world has operated for some six thousand years.

It means that humanity does consist of employers and endowed persons, of nobles, wealthy people, and professional men—doctors, lawyers, priests, and squires; that culture, schools, courts, and senates are not for these only, and that the employed, the clerks, and workmen, who make the money for these upper classes, are not on the same economic level as the spades and pens they handle; but that a man, any man, and his wage are the direct concern of government; that the iron law of supply and demand may govern the grinding of flour, but not of human creatures, and that the brute law of competition shall some time, in some way, be changed to the human law of co-operation.

Which Type Of Mind Do You Prefer?

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

I read recently a statement of the opinion that H. G. Wells had "beaten Jules Verne on his own ground." To me it appears clear that Mr. Wells, for whose peculiar literary efforts, at their best, nobody has greater admiration than I have, has never been on Jules Verne's ground at all. The point is worth thinking about because it turns upon a distinction of mental character of great importance in our study of our fellow men and of ourselves.

Verne and Wells represent two types of mind. Jules Verne had the mind of an engineer, though with a richer imagination than the professional engineer possesses, but his imagination was, after all, of a practical type and what it saw was sharply defined and capable of clear description. His mnd had the transparency of a quartz lens. In its boldest conceptions there was nothing indistinct. When Verne describes a marvelous machine, like the submarine "Nautilus," or the projectile that was shot at the moon, or the "steam house" that traversed the plains and mountains of India, he tells just how it was constructed, so that a skilful mechanic could almost use the description for a working design. Verne looked straight at his objects, saw it clearly, and never peered through half-closed eyelashes, or perceived things dimly out of the corner of his eye.

A mind of this type loves to work by means of mere suggestion and shrinks from fullness and accuracy of detail. It is naturally impressionistic and not clear-sighted. Whatever pretensions it may make to science, it is in reality utterly unscientific. The kind of imagination that characterises it is not the kind that leads to real discoveries and inventions. It does not see things sharply enough for that. When it writes fiction it uses half-lights and averted glances. This method has a high kind of artistic value, and is capable, when not over used, of very great effects, but it has not the permanent power possessed by the clearer operations of the other type of mind. The historical proof of this statement is the fact that the literature that has lasted for thousands of years, surviving even the spoken languages in which it was written, such as the works of Homer and of Virgil, was all composed in the direct, sharp-cut, transparent style.

The impressionistic, suggestive and nebulous style is the natural medium of "prophets" and "seers" of every sort. Astrologers, palmists, fortune-tellers, augurs and vaticinators of all degrees employ no other. It is also immensely popular because it makes so little demand upon logical thinking and careful attention to the real concatenation of things in this world.

Action and reaction are always equal, even in psychology, and the public mind, as a whole, has its opposite poles. The basis of everything, the atom itself, if our present speculative knowledge about it is not far astray, cannot exist without the counterplay of positive and negative expressions of electric energy. In like manner, mankind is made up of two mental types—the positive, which loves clearness, directness, sharp detail and certainty and detests obscurity, indirection and guessing—and the negative, whose delight it is to linger along the border and to peer wonderingly into the shadows, where nothing is sharply defined and everything may be imagined.

But the nucleus of the atom, its controlling center, we may remark, is positive. In like manner, mankind, as an atom of universal life is peace, is positive at the core.

DRESS

By Mary Marshall

The Pure White Frock Is Stamped With Fashion's Special Favor

"Merely to think of white frocks," says a French woman, "is to recognise that summer has actually arrived—it is to wish to be attractive in a different manner, in a manner more glorious, more youthful."

For the French woman is less inclined to indulge in the extravagance of wearing white frocks, hats and wraps in the city than are American women. She reserves white for days spent under sunny skies at the seashore or in picturesque country villages.

For as many seasons as you can remember you have doubtless been told that white was going to be "especially smart this summer," or words to that effect. Every summer brings about an "unprecedented vogue for white, an unequaled demand for white frocks, hats and white accessories."

And, indeed, if any fashion is ever easy to launch it is this fashion for pure white in summer. It is a fashion, too, that no amount of popularity will render commonplace. For the wearing of pure white always has been and always will be, until this world of ours is finally rid of coal smoke, dust and dirt, a privilege of the few or of special occasions. It is a fashion that appeals most strongly to the woman of fastidious taste, a fashion that exacts too must care and precision for the woman who is not punctious in matters of dress.

The shops show all sorts of new white fabrics this summer—many of them being of the slightly cream tint that French women find so much more becoming than the white that verges on the blue. Many of these white materials are of cotton, and fine linen is used in combination with lace and hemstitching. More desirable in the estimation of some women are the crepe silk fabrics. The sketch shows a frock of white mousseline de soie trimmed with lace and a narrow silver belt, decorated with roses made of the white mousseline.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

WHY POLKA?

Polka dots are quite smart. Scarfs showing polka dots of white against black or navy blue are considered quite desirable and polka dotted silk frocks are coming into favor. And we still call them polka—though the dance called the polka has long since been forgotten.

It all began about 1830, when this new dance originated in Bohemia, and from thence soon spread to Austria—thence to France, England and the United States. It enjoyed as great vogue as did the tango within our own memory and was at the outset regarded as quite as dangerous and "modern" as any of the dances of our own day have been looked upon by us.

And just as the word "tango" was applied to new colors, new salads, and new kinds of soda water concoctions so the word polka was applied to all sorts of novelties at that time. Anything that happened to be especially smart at the time the polka was most talked about was apt to be dubbed polka. Besides the polka dot, there was polka-ganze, a thin fabric with dots woven into the fabric and there was a polka jacket—a sort of forerunner of the modern knitted sweater.

DID YOU KNOW—?

That the favorite type of negligee at present is of the tailored mannish sort made up in thin flannel? The well-dressed young woman off for her holidays in mountain, lake or seaside resort where even summer evenings and early mornings may be chilly finds this the smartest as well as the most practical choice.

Mass Education Movement Grows Popular In Chengtu

(Independent News Service)

Chengtu, Szechuen, July 24.—One of the chief items of interest this summer in the Capital city of Szechuen is the Mass Education Movement. It was initiated by the Y. M. C. A. last year as a result of the successful campaigns in other large cities of China put on by Mr. James Yen of the National Committee, Shanghai. Mr. Yen was peculiarly adapted to prosecute these educational campaigns in China after his successful work with the Chinese coolies in France during the war. We have been fortunate in Chengtu in having with us one who helped initiate this movement among Chinese in France in the person of Mr. Chen Wei-shin, now manager of the Commercial Press here. In former years Mr. Chen was a secretary of the local association here, and went to Shanghai for training. While in training his chance came to go to France and he proved one of the most active and efficient of the secretaries sent overseas. On his return to Shanghai he took up work again in Shanghai, but was soon called to a position with the Commercial Press and sent to his native province, Szechuen. Since coming back to Chengtu, Mr. Chen has found time to help all the various institutions and churches to which he formerly was attached, and has revealed himself as an organiser and promoter of no mean ability. His travels in England, France and America have broadened an already wide experience based on a substantial substratum of native ability, unbounded energy, ready wit and unquestioned platform ability. He quickly found his place on the dirbctorate of the local Y. M. C. A. and in conjunction with the Boy's Department Secretary, Huang Tze-han, also trained in Shanghai, was not slow to perceive the possibilities of mass education in Chengtu.

It was early seen that the best plan was to organise a board of directors outside of the Y. M. C. A. so as to utilise to the best advantage all the other educational interests in the Capital. This proved wise and a good broad basis was established with the association as base, and all the other educational interests sent delegates. General Yang Sen and his progressive officers were early on the scene to lend their aid to any broadly useful educational propaganda such as this. General Yang subscribed 2,000 silver dollars, and Wang Tupan subscribed $1,000.

At the Chinese New Year plans were so far under way that a school for the training of volunteer teachers was opened in the Y. M. C. A. and the enthusiasm of all concerned was proved by the close attention to study all through this popular holiday except two actual days at the time of the New Year itself. Sixty student teachers took the useful Normal course provided and agreed to teach during the three summer months free of charge.

Then the directors broadened their plans and arranged for a $7,000 budget to cover a three-months' course of teaching the most popular one thousand Chinese characters in over one hundred places. The plans were made with elasticity so that students unable to leave their places of employment to attend school were helped by having school carried to their places of employment where enough students made use of this form of school. In this way many employes of eating houses and teashops were taught right on the premises in their leisure time by the teachers going there with books, blackboards and lectures. It was found necessary to have one employed teacher as principal in each one of the one hundred centers to take the responsibility of students, property and management and then utilise the volunteer teachers as assistants. Ten thousand students have been enrolled. Some have dropped out during the course, but it is gratifying to see the enthusiasm with which the work is being successfully carried on.

Memorial To Capt. Plant Is Ready For Dedication

(Independent News Service)

Hankow, August 8.—Today is the fifty-eighth anniversary of the birth of Samuel Cornell Plant, the first captain to command a merchant steamer on the upper Yangtsze River, in 1900. Captain Plant was river inspector of the Chinese Maritime Customs, and a monument in his honor has been erected at Hsin Tan by his friends and those interested in the improvement of steamer navigation on the Upper Yangtsze.

Captain Plant was born at Framingham, Suffolk, on the 8th of August, 1866, and died at sea on the 26th of February, 1921, after a useful and honorable life during which he did much for the furtherance of trade in the interior of China.

The monument which has just been completed, but which has not yet been unveiled, will be known as the "Plant Memorial", and stands on the left bank in the Upper Yangtsze Gorges at the Hsin T'an Rapids, about thirty-five and a half miles above Ichang. Obelisk in form, it towers over the Yangtsze currents at its side. The site of the memorial is about one hundred and fifty feet above high river level and about five hundred yards from the channel which is taken by steamers.

Being rectangular, the monument is so situated that one of its corners points across the river, causing one side of the obelisk to face diagonally up river and another to face diagonally down river. It was suggested that as the Chinese come from within China, while the foreigners come from without China, the inscription in Chinese be placed on the side facing diagonally up river, and the inscription in English be placed on the side facing diagonally down river.

BUILT OF GRANITE

Built of Changsha granite of even color and texture throughout, the facework having a hammer dressed finish, the monument is indeed beautiful and representative of the feelings of those men to whom the friendship and the work of Captain Plant meant so much. The words "Memorial" are cut in block capitals, fourteen inches high, sunk three quarters of an inch, and stand out from a finely axed surface. The balance of the inscription lettering is cut on a finely axed surface in Roman capitals, four inches high, and sunk three-eighths of an inch, while the whole of the lettering is blackened with granite paint.

The toal weight of the granite used in making this handsome monument is one hundred and fifty tons, the entire amount having been transported from the Changsha quarry to the site by means of Hunan junks. Twenty-five days were required for this journey. The junks arrived at Hsin T'an during low river level, and the granite was discharged from a distance of one thousand feet from the monument site, on a two hundred and forty foot lower level.

The obelisk is composed of 115 stones the largest ones weighing three tons each, and the average weight for the entire lot being one and a third ton each. It took sixty days to discharge the stones from the junks and getting them to the top of the hill to the site of the monument. In reckoning sixy days to haul the stone to the site, one must take into consideration twelve days of rainy weather during which practically no work could be done. This leaves forty-eight days of steady hauling.

A TREMENDOUS WORK

To give one an idea of the tremendousness of the job of hauling these large blocks to the site, it might be as well to give some comparison of the work over a known distance, To move these hundred and fifteen stones over the distance required, was equal to the task of carrying one block of granite weighing one and one third tons for a distance of twenty-two miles, along a path that inclined from the ground level to a height of twenty-nine thousand feet, a little more than the height of the Himalayas.

The foundation and core of the monument are made to last for centuries, being composed of cement concrete. The monument is fifty-one feet in height, including the foundation, and the plinth is in two courses. The bottom of the obelisk is eight and one half feet square and tapers to five feet nine inches, ending in a pyramid five feet six inches high.

The cost of the memorial monument will be $15,000, the total of which was raised by public subscription. The cost of designing and supervising the erection of the monument, however, was subscribed by the Inspector General of Customs.

The "Plant Memorial" Monument will be completed today, the birthday of Captain Samuel Cornell Plant, but no date has as yet been given as to when the unveiling will take place.

Old Pengkalan Estate Holds Final Meeting

The Pengkalan Durian Estate, Ltd., in voluntary liquidation, held its final general meeting, winding up the Company, at the offices of Messrs. J. P. Bissett and Co., at No. 12, Hund, yesterday afternoon.

The purpose of the liquidation, which was begun three years ago, was to reconstruct the Company, which has been duly carried out in accordance with an agreement between the old Company, the liquidator, and the new Company, which is known as the Pengkalan Durian Estate (1921) Ltd., made on August 29, 1921. By this agreement the Company and the liquidator transferred to the new company the whole of its assets and undertaking. In consideration therefor the new company assumed all the old company's liabilities, while every member of the old company became entitled to an allotment of two shares in the new company of Tls. 1 each in exchange for each share of Tls. 9 held in the old company, also an allotment at par for cash of one further share in the new company for each share held in the old.

At yesterday's meeting, Mr. A. E. Stewart, liquidator, presided. There was a quorum of shareholders present, and the liquidator read the statement and account of winding up of the old company. It was then moved by Mr. Stewart, and seconded by Mr. A. H. Hatherly, that the account submitted to the meeting, showing the manner in which the winding up had been conducted and the property of the Company disposed of, be received and adopted. The resolution was carried.
